Innermost Announces Video Screen Offer

Innermost is pleased to announce a partnership with Lighthouse to offer a range of high quality LED display products exclusively to the hospitality and retail markets.

Lighthouse has been a pioneer and market leader in the LED video display field for two decades and is well known for the quality of their large screens installed in sports arenas and other applications across the globe. It now offers a range of innovative and compact systems at various resolutions that will allow designers the flexibility to incorporate state-of-the-art screen displays into any interior.

Animation and information availability in the interior is an established trend, but Innermost also sees the possibility for large screens to provide creative yet subtle ambient effects within interior schemes.

Steve Jones, CEO and Co-founder of Innermost, says, "This exciting collaboration further demonstrates our fascination with what technology can do for an interior. This a new area for lighting where light, art, and information are available in a single product".

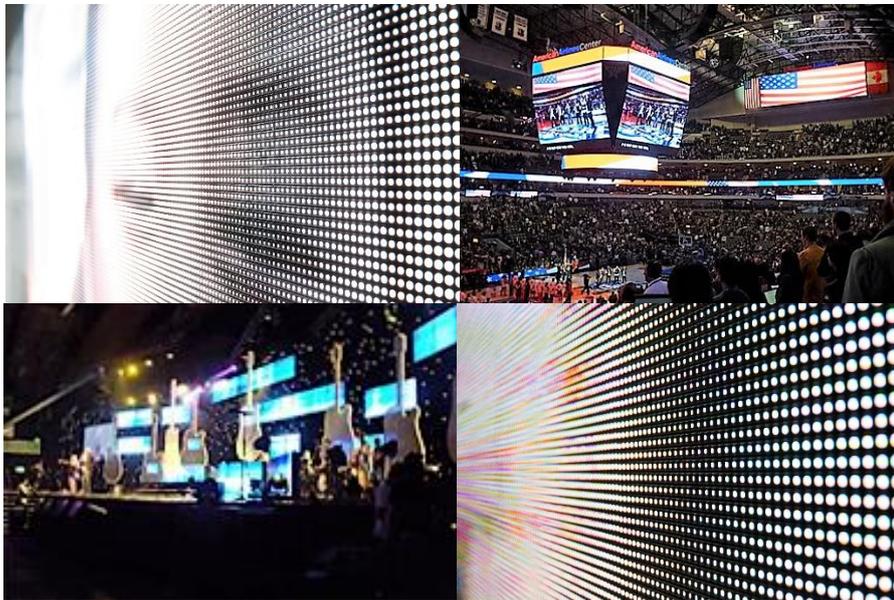

Peter Chan, Managing Director of Lighthouse Technologies Ltd says this about the collaboration: "We share the same values of innovation and creativity as Innermost, which facilitates our partnership, we look forward to forthcoming projects, which will create a new visual experience for the retail & hospitality applications"

Grab attention in retail schemes and window displays; keep focus in bars and social areas. Together with Lighthouse, Innermost's project team has the ability to build the product into walls, and even floors or ceilings, resulting in virtually limitless project possibilities.
