

Founders of Innermost launch Innermost Plus: Lighting, Furniture, Bespoke.

Since its launch in 1999, Innermost has always collaborated with unique brands to bring customers the best design. That remains its goal today.

Innermost has always had an innovative approach to lighting and furniture design. Founded in London and working with designers from all over the world, Steve Jones and Russell Cameron have created a diverse brand, making products of the absolute highest quality.

The company has followed its original philosophy, and today offers one of the best selections of design-led lighting in the UK, as well as a growing range of furniture.

With the launch of Innermost Plus, the original manufacturing skills and the innovative Innermost own brand will remain, and new, complimentary, brands will be welcomed to the fold alongside it.

Innermost co-founder Steve Jones commented: “Over the coming months, we will be adding some really exciting brands to our collection, as we become the sole UK distributors for them in both decorative and technical lighting. Our aim is to bring innovation and interest to inspire our UK customers and now there is no design area we can’t cater for.”

The new brands will be stocked at the Innermost Plus modern distribution centre and factory in Telford, which has facilities for bespoke finishing and assembly.

“We will stock all the brands from our European partners here in the UK to avoid the delays that many have been struggling with since Brexit,” said Steve. “Our facilities for bespoke finishing and assembly will mean that imported brands will have the same tailoring resources as our own creations.

“Innermost Plus isn’t just providing a product, we combine supply with supportive advice, tailored solutions and great after sales service. We’re here for design and here for our clients.”
